Liberal John Kerry is a well-known flip-flopper. He says one thing one minute and then will say the exact opposite the next – whatever will get him elected.

Now it looks like the Mississippi Democratic Party has learned to flip-flop, too. The Democrat-controlled Mississippi House and Senate passed Governor Haley Barbour’s plan to save Medicaid from going broke and keep those who are not truly needy from taking benefits from those who really are.

Now the Democratic Party is flip-flopping. They claim their legislators didn’t understand what they voted for. Trouble is they have no other plan to save Medicaid ...zero, nothing.

The Mississippi Republican Party would like to say thank you to Governor Haley Barbour and <legislator’s name> for standing firm and caring enough for the sick and elderly in Mississippi to save the very Medicaid program they depend on.

To John Kerry and the Mississippi Democratic Party we would like to say this: Summer's almost over, do us all a favor and put up your flip-flops.

Paid for by the Mississippi Republican Party.
